Lori is a multi-media artist who retired after 33 years at an engineering firm and is honing her long lost skills in art. She loves to experiment and try new things, media and styles. She got her degree in Commercial Art in 1996 while working as a Technical Illustrator for this firm. Her last 17 years however were in Computer Networking and IT work before retirement in 2018.

She relocated to Canon City, CO in 2008 in plans for retirement and to be closer to her grandchildren. She received several awards since retiring for her paintings. These awards were won in watercolor, acrylic and illustrative. She is loving this new chapter in her life through painting and spending time with family and friends.

She started a local Plein Air group in April of 2018 with two other ladies in preparation for Paint the Town in Florence CO because she had never Plein Air painted before. She won two patron awards in that show and sold one painting. Her Plein Air group which is on Facebook and called Plein Air Colours has grown to over 20 members.
